

Dr. Kyriakos Loufakis, President of the Greek International Business Association (SEVE)

Kyriakos Loufakis was elected President of SEVE in May, 2014. He is also the President and CEO of Loufakis Chemicals S.A.

Dr. Loufakis holds a PhD, and an MSc from Renselaer Polytechnic Inst. in N. York and a BSc from Aristotelion University of Thessaloniki all in Chemistry. He has won the Fulbright and the Alexander von Humbolt scholarships. He has been a research assistant and guest speaker in several Universities and Institutes in USA, China, Europe and Greece. He has more than 15 publications in Scientific Journals and 9 presentations in conferences. Since 1988 after his return to Greece he works in the Chemical Industry.

He is or was a member of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colourists (AATCC), American Chemical Society (ACS), New York Academy of Science, Textile Institute and the Greek Association of Chemists.

He is enlisted in "Who is who in science and engineering" since 1988 and "Who is who in the world" since 1995. He is also member of the board within local companies and organizations.

Dr. Loufakis has a broad experience in implementation and management of projects, concerning product development and has worked extensively in the marketing, sales and contracting. He speaks English, German, French.

Dr. Loufakis was born in Thessaloniki in 1960. He is married, father of three children.